Medical Exam Instructions

Every immigrant visa applicant must complete a medical exam before a visa can be issued, no matter their age. Only physicians accredited by the U.S. Embassy can perform this exam. You must schedule your medical exam with one of the approved doctors listed below before your visa interview at the U.S. Embassy. Exams from other hospitals will not be accepted. See the information below for scheduling instructions and the list of approved hospitals.

Approved Physicians/Hospitals

To review or print the list of approved hospitals, download the document at the link below:

OFFICIAL LIST OF HOSPITALS FOR THE IMMIGRATION MEDICAL EXAMINATION

During the medical exam

The medical exam includes a review of your medical history, a physical exam, chest X-ray, syphilis and gonorrhea tests, and blood tests (for applicants 15 and older). Applicants aged 2 and older must also complete tuberculosis (TB) testing. Be ready to discuss your medical history, current medications, and any treatments you are receiving. For more details on medical requirements for U.S. immigrants, visit the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Website.

Immigrant visa applicants must get certain vaccinations before a visa can be issued, as required by U.S. immigration law. You can find the list of required vaccines on CDC.Gov. For more information, visit Travel.State.Gov to read Frequently Asked Questions about the medical exam.

After the medical exam

After your medical exam, the hospital will send your results directly to the Embassy, either electronically or physically, depending on your case. You don't need to take any further action. If x-rays are taken, they will be given to you. You DO NOT need to bring the x-rays to your visa interview unless you have tuberculosis (TB). However, you must carry the x-rays with you when you travel to the United States for the first time. Your medical report must be less than six months old when you enter the United States as an immigrant.

Interview Guidelines

Sending documents to the U.S. Embassy

Bring original documents to your visa interview. Do NOT mail documents to the embassy ahead of your interview.

Rescheduling or cancelling your interview

If you cannot attend your appointment, visit our Consular Navigator at here and follow the instructions to request a new appointment. The wait time for the next available appointment may be long, so try to attend your originally scheduled date if possible.

Rescheduling your appointment does not guarantee a visa will still be available. For some family-based and employment preference visa categories, a visa may only be available during the month you were scheduled by the National Visa Center (NVC).

Security screening procedures

All visitors to the U.S. Embassy in Havana must follow security procedures. If you refuse screening by embassy security personnel, you will not be allowed to enter. Large bags and electronic devices, including mobile phones and smartwatches, are not permitted inside. You may bring a small handbag or a plastic bag with your application-related documents. To avoid delays for you and others, bring only what you need for your interview.

Accompanying people

Attorneys are not permitted to go with clients into the waiting room or to their interview. However, the following people may accompany a visa applicant to their interview:

- Sign Translator: Applicants with hearing impairment may bring ONE sign translator to participate in an interview.
- Special Needs Visitors: Applicants may bring ONE person to help if they are elderly or disabled.
- Minors: Anyone accompanying a minor child who is not a parent must have written consent from the petitioner or parent to accompany the child.
- Petitioners: The petitioner may attend for IR1, F2A, and K1 visa applicants only

Immigrant visa fees

If you have not paid all required fees to the National Visa Center, you must be prepared to pay them on the day of your interview.

Fees can be paid in U.S. dollars. Please note that visa application fees are non-refundable, even if you are found ineligible for a visa. For a full list of fees, visit our Fees for Visa Services webpage.

Do not make travel plans

If your visa is approved, we will keep your passport at the embassy to process your immigrant visa and print the visa in your passport. Once the visa is printed, we will return your passport and any applicable travel documents.

A consular officer can only make decisions about a visa application after reviewing the formal application and interviewing the applicant. Approval is not guaranteed. Do not sell your house, car, or property, resign from your job, or make non-refundable travel plans until you have received your immigrant visa.

After Your interview

If more information is needed

A consular officer may not be able to decide on a visa application immediately if additional documents are needed or if the case requires administrative processing. If more documents are required, the officer will give you a refusal letter with instructions on how to submit the documents to the embassy.

Administrative processing takes extra time after the interview. Most cases are resolved within 60 working days, but the timeline can vary depending on the case. Please wait at least 60 working days after your interview before asking about the status of administrative processing.

What happens after visa approval

Passport, Visa, and Sealed Immigrant Packet – Your immigrant visa will be placed on a page in your passport. Check your visa carefully to ensure there are no spelling errors.

Some applicants will also receive a sealed envelope with documents for U.S. immigration authorities. Do not open this envelope. Carry it with you and do not pack it in your checked luggage.

If you received X-rays during your medical exam, bring them with you and provide them to U.S. immigration authorities if required.

USCIS Immigrant Fee – If you are issued an immigrant visa, you must pay an Immigrant Fee to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) before traveling to the United States. This fee covers the processing of your residency status and the printing of your Permanent Resident Card. The following individuals are exempt from this fee:

- Children entering the United States through the Hague Process
- Returning residents
- Fiancé(e) (K) visa holders

When to Travel – You must enter the United States before your visa expires, which is usually six months from the date of your medical exam. Visa expiration dates cannot be extended, and all fees are nonrefundable.

The principal applicant must enter the United States before or at the same time as any family members traveling with visas.

Children issued a visa before turning 21 must enter the United States before their 21st birthday to keep their immigrant status, unless they qualify for benefits under the Child Status Protection Act.

Getting a Green Card – Your Form I-551 Permanent Resident Card (green card) will be mailed automatically to the U.S. address you provided in your visa application. This card is an essential document that proves your permission to live in the United States.

If you plan to travel outside the U.S. before your green card arrives, check the USCIS's and CBP's websites for information on the documents required to re-enter the country. You should also confirm with your airline to ensure you meet their requirements.

Once your green card is issued, do not stay outside the United States for more than one year. Staying abroad for over a year will result in losing your status as a Lawful Permanent Resident.

Children's Issues – In the United States, children must have certain vaccinations to enroll in school. Bring your child's complete vaccination records with you.

If your child is adopted, you have full custody due to a divorce, or you share custody with another parent, bring a copy of all relevant adoption or custody documents issued by the appropriate authority in your home country. These documents, translated into English, may be needed for school enrollment, medical care, and future citizenship processes.
